

What happens when the bulb burns out?

LEDs typically do not 'burn out' like standard light bulb.

Rather, they gradually degrade over time.

Our fixtures should retain 70% or more of their brightness for 50,000 hours, possibly for up to 100,000 hours, which is 20 years if operated for 12 hours a day.